Concussion Information Sheet

A concussion is a brain injury that alters the way your brain functions, and they are caused by a bump, blow, or jolt to the head, or by a blow to another part of the body with the force transmitted to the head. They can range from mild to severe and can disrupt the way the brain normally works. Even though most concussions are mild, all concussions are potentially serious and may result in complications including prolonged brain damage and death if not recognized and managed properly. In other words, even a “ding” or a bump on the head can be serious. You cannot see a concussion, and most concussions occur without loss of consciousness. Signs and symptoms of concussion may occur right after the injury or may take hours or days to fully appear. If your child reports any symptoms of concussion, or if you notice the symptoms or signs of concussion yourself, seek medical attention right away.

Symptoms may include one or more of the following:
● Headaches	● Amnesia
● “Pressure in head”	● “Don’t feel right”
● Nausea or vomiting	● Fatigue or low energy
● Neck Pain	● Sadness
● Balance problems or dizziness	● Nervousness or anxiety
● Blurred, double, or fuzzy vision	● Irritability
● Sensitivity to light and noise	● More emotional
● Feeling sluggish or slowed down	● Confusion
● Feeling foggy or groggy	● Concentration or memory problems
● Drowsiness	● (forgetting game plays)
● Change in sleep patterns	● Repeating the same question/comment

Signs observed by teammates, parents and coaches include:
● Appears dazed	● Shows behavior or personality changes
● Vacant facial expression	● Cannot recall events prior to hit
● Confused about assignment	● Cannot recall events after hit
● Forgets plays	● Seizures or convulsions
● Is unsure of game, score or opponent	● Any change in typical behavior or personality

What can happen if my child keeps on playing with a concussion or returns too soon? Athletes with the signs and symptoms of concussion should be removed from play immediately. Continuing to play with the signs and symptoms of a concussion leaves the student/athlete especially vulnerable to greater injury. There is an increased risk of significant damage from a concussion for a period of time after that concussion occurs, particularly if the athlete suffers another concussion before completely recovering from the first one. This can lead to prolonged recovery, or even to severe brain swelling (second impact syndrome) with devastating and even fatal consequences. It is well known that adolescent or teenage athletes will often fail to report symptoms of injuries. Concussions are no different. As a result, education of administrators, coaches, parents and students is the key to student-athlete's safety.

Do you think your child has suffered a concussion Any athlete even suspected of suffering a concussion should be removed from the game or practice immediately. Ensure that the student/athlete is evaluated right away by a healthcare professional. Close observation of the student/athlete should continue for several hours. No athlete may return to activity after an apparent head injury or concussion, regardless of how mild it seems or how quickly symptoms clear, without medical clearance. STATE LAW requires athletes to provide their school with written clearance from either a physician licensed to practice medicine in all its branches or a certified athletic trainer working in conjunction with a physician licensed to practice medicine. In accordance with state law, all schools are required to follow this policy. You should also inform your child's coach if you think that your child may have a concussion. Remember it's better to miss one game than miss the whole season. And when in doubt, the athlete sits out. Safety comes first. Regardless of situation (athletic contest), student will not be able to practice or play until released by proper medical professional.

Post-Concussion Procedures for Athletics

1. If student athlete sustains a possible concussion, athlete is removed from play.
2. Severity of concussion is determined and decision is made whether to activate rescue personnel or contact parent for athlete to be picked up and evaluated by student athlete's physician. See Emergency Action Plan (EAP).
3. Inform parent/guardian that ImPACT post-injury test can be scheduled by calling Centegra Health Systems Concussion Hotline at (815) 759-4342, and remind parent to notify Centegra that athlete is a student from McHenry Elementary School District

McHenry Elementary School District 15

15. Centegra will forward ImPACT post-injury results to physician and to the Athletic Director for review by e-mail.

Post-Concussion Procedures for Athletics-Continued

4. Inform parent that student athlete must have medical clearance from physician before initiating the return to learn/play process and prior to participation in physical education classes.

Return to Learn/Return to Play

1. If parent chooses to schedule post-injury test at Centegra Health System, results of the post-injury test must also be reviewed by physician and have returned to baseline.
2. Medical clearance must be submitted to the school nurse.
3. Once medical clearance documents to “return to learn” are received, school nurse will notify student’s teachers that a concussion has occurred and to notify school nurse if there are any concerns regarding student in the classroom.
4. Once medical clearance documents to “return to play” are received, school nurse will forward to athletic director.
5. Copies of medical clearance reports will be distributed by Athletic Director to coach.
